

The background is a painting of a San Francisco bay view. A suspension bridge with orange towers and cables spans across the water. The sky is a pale, hazy blue. In the foreground, there are dark, leafy branches of a tree with several bright yellow lemons. The overall style is soft and painterly.

Leslie Barnes, a very unwilling psychic, loves her new house in San Francisco.
Until she learns that something wants it.
Something that is after her very soul...
